

I am WO1M. It is my opinion that communications have entered the digital age and a licensing requirement for morse code proficiency is totally unnecessary. I would congratulate those foreign governments who have the wisdom and foresight to delete this requirement. My remarks do not diminish the enjoyment of the use of CW by many amateurs. My father's (SK) greatest hobby enjoyment was CW DXing. In the current day and time I do feel it is an unnecessary rite of passage to require morse code proficiency.

Please eliminate any requirement for morse code proficiency.

Dana D. Dyer